- Demography Configuration: feature that allows users to configure form inputs such as text boxes, dropdowns, checkboxes, radio buttons, etc. Users can also specify the order in which these elements are displayed, all without the need to write any code.
- Email Ticketing: When a customer sends an email to the company's designated support email address, the Email Ticketing system automatically converts the email into a structured ticket. This ticket contains essential details such as the customer's contact information, the subject of the inquiry, the content of the email, and a unique ticket ID. The ticket is then added to a centralized ticketing system or help desk software.
